It Is To Be Expected That In Time East Will Countenance Sunday Ball

West Is Showing Itself More Progressive In That Line Now—Some Answers to Queries That Have Accumulated On the Sporting Editor's Desk.

HE WAS the greatest fighter of his time—his name was on the lips of every sportsman. He was so clearly entitled to the championship that he was proclaimed the title holder without one dissenting vote.

He did not surround himself with press agents; rather he depended upon his inherent strength and valor to boom his name down the canons of fighting annals. He was always ready to fight, whatever or wherever the stake. Neither did the odds matter to him for he had confidence in himself.

He was the same cool headed and level chaps in victory or defeat, for it is true that his were not all victories, even though he was a champion of champions.

He was born Feb. 22, 1872, in St. George, Washington.

Personally, I fail to see what objection can be raised to Sunday baseball. I see no reason why there should not be Sunday baseball in Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Washington and Philadelphia, the same as there is in Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Choose any basis for argumentation. What religion could legitimately object to sending tens of thousands of baseball lovers out into the open air and sunning for a genuine pleasure outing? Season in and season out what an immeasurable benefit there would be to the physical selves of those people who spent this time in the open air, who offered no incentive to go out and be amused, would more than likely stay in.

Baseball has been greatly refined in the past five or ten years. People do not go to the same now-aways with the fanatical idea of winning at any cost and "killing" the umpire in the event of a loss. Rather has the demand come to be regarded as an outdoor theater, a place where a man may take his wife and family to their enjoyment.

It is to be hoped that the east will in time become as progressive as the west and not only countenance Sunday baseball, but actually covet it. Some of the strongest fans in Detroit are priests and pastors and it is not unusual to see them at Sunday games.

"Cut it out" was probably first uttered by a sporting editor's shears.

It has not been definitely decided whether the national indoor game is bowling or plachie.

While it is immutably true that it takes a good bowler to make good in a national tournament, it is just as true that many a good bowler falls down hard in these events and that a bowler unknown to fame may develop a lucky streak during any tourney and cut into the money.

The reason so many good bowlers fall down is because pins and alleys are new and most bowlers like to acclimatize themselves to bowling on alleys on which they have rolled before and against, well, not brand new pins. It is not at all extraordinary to see what looks like a perfect ball draw a "split" in one of these big tournaments.

The following conversation in a hotel lobby might have been pulled between two well meaning gentlemen and tourists, one for the Mexican war situation and the other for the previous acquaintance:

"It looks as though Madero will be in."

"What race?"

"But the odds are against a winning."

"Why, is it fixed?"

"I'm going to string along with Orozco until they close the shutters."

"That's one horse I never heard tell of. Orozco? Who bred him?"

"The trouble is that they will start something 'til they can't finish."

"Look at the attitude the United States is taking."

"Yes, but tell me, they're going to open all the old tracks again this season."

"There'll be an awful lot of loot when it does come through."

"Yes, but the bookies know how to use it."

"I say, 'watcher tryin' to do, kid me?'"

"No. Are you trying to kid me?"

"No."

"All right."

"They part."

Jack Curley now says that he will not definitely announce the site of the "big fight" until May. Must be Jack wants to make a few more transcontinental trips at the expense of prospective promoters.

Yes, indeed, there are worse habits than wearing a monocle.

Johnny Kilbane is married, has a year old girl baby, Miss Mary Kilbane, he does not smoke, swear nor drink, he goes to church regularly, he is not a minister. He's a prize fighter.

"The man from Mexico" is a musical comedy, but the man from Mexico is usually a sartorial and mental tragedy.

"He stood on the bridge at midnight" was not exactly dedicated to a Fourth Cavalry squire. But it'll do.

Low Arm sporting editor The Herald: Does a triple cross beat a double cross? Answer quick.

You talk like a laundryman. Yes, a quadruple cross will beat both. You can run into one any day over in June.

Was there ever in the world such a joyful feeling as being done with the dentist for six months? Answer: No.

The "gentleman who" the far on his crooked collar is not necessarily a grand opera tenor.

As a trumpet, he might put Cass Tarr against the Mexican insurrection movement. His press agents say his foot work is unexcelled.

They are talking about a night baseball league. The best night baseball is played in the hotel lobbies after the game when the players always get together and play every important feature of the contest of the after-

The sporting writers south with the major league baseball teams must now proceed to proclaim new and wonderful "finds" among the youngsters who are in training. Seven-eighths of them as per schedule will blow up promptly on April 10, or when the regular baseball season opens.

Sporting Editor, The Herald: With two men out, batter knocks ball to shortstop. Shortstop throws it to first, but the runner beats the ball. However, he steps on the first baseman's foot, not touching the bag. Is the runner out or safe?

J. H. K.

Answer: This is entirely a matter for the umpire to decide. If he intentionally ran into the first baseman and prevented him from fielding the ball, he is out. If, on the other hand, he unintentionally ran into the first baseman or if the first baseman was blocking in such a position as to block the runner from the bag before the ball had reached first base, the player is safe.

Whether the base runner is safe or not, he is largely a matter of the powers of observation and the way he happened to see it. The rules are elastic rather than explicit in this case and put it up to the umpire to decide.

Sporting Editor, The Herald: A. claims Jake Schaefer, at one time a billiard champion, was known as a "Broomstick" billiard player. Is he from Lawrenceville, Kansas. Which is right?

Where did he die?

Answer: Schaefer died at 18 1/2 bakline when he died?

R. W. Phillips.

Answer: Schaefer did most of his early training about Indianapolis and later ran a billiard hall in Chicago. He died in Denver. No, at the time of his death he was from Lawrenceville, Kansas.

NOTES OF DIAMOND IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Jimmy Burke, of the Indianapolis team, would like to have pitcher Lefty George, of the St. Louis Browns.

Cleveland has released outfielder Gus Williams, who last year got a trial with the St. Louis Browns. The Montreal club, of the Southern association.

Clarence D. (Lefty) Russell was the last of the Athletics to sign his contract—and if he does not improve in disposition and performance he will be the first to go.

Robert Hyatt, the West Point athlete, signed by the Tigers does not confine his efforts to pitching. He has played first, second and catcher for the Soldier team.

Robinson, the twirler from Waco secured by Pittsburgh, will not train with the team. He will be sent to the farm in Providence. The release of Mitchell was a surprise, as he was looked upon as a fixture for this year.

The latest Tiger to be sent to the farm in Providence is Elmer Mitchell, southpaw. The release of Mitchell was a surprise, as he was looked upon as a fixture for this year.

John Somerlott, who had his trial with the Tigers, has landed at Columbus through a deal with Newark. He spent the last half of the 1911 season at Terre Haute.

Ty Cobb will report late, says a Detroit story. The rival pitchers of the American league do not care a "rap" whether or not Ty runs in his appearance before August.

Harry Wolverton has signed a semi-pro catcher named Edwin Bergen for his Yankees and the youngster has promised that the name shall not die out in the majors if he can help it.

The Red Sox thought they had disposed of catcher Tommanen to Memphis, but Harry Wolverton refused to waive. Tommanen was with Jersey City last season, but Boston had a claim on him.

Ty Cobb seems to be sheepskin into his trousers to save his hide when he slides. Manager Jimmy Callahan, it is said, has ordered a carload of fleeces from the Chicago stock yards for his base stealers.

Catcher Jack Kleinow, whose last major league engagement was with the Phillies, has signed a contract with Baltimore.

The death of Jimmy Doyle probably will upset plans for a Chicago-Boston trade that involved several players. Doyle among them.

Charley Murphy says he will ask the National league to adopt a rule to prevent players from engaging in the liquor business.

KELLY APPARENTLY AS SLOW AS EVER

He and Brown Do Not Lack Nerve Though Claiming Ketchel's Title.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 22.—Hugo Kelly, of Chicago, last night outpointed Geo. ("Knockout") Brown, of the same city, in a 10-round bout here. The men are middleweights.

Due to Brown's hanging-on tactics, the contest resembled a wrestling bout more than it did a prize fight. Brown constantly sought to work under Kelly's guard and sent home telling body blows. He had little difficulty in getting close to Kelly, but the majority of the blows he landed at close range were weak. They did little damage. Brown was biased repeatedly by the crowd for his poor work.

In all the open fighting Kelly clearly outdistanced his opponent. He constantly jabbed Brown's head with his left and followed up with right hooks or right uppercuts. At the opening of the fifth round, both of Brown's eyes were puffed badly from Kelly's jabbing. Brown was the loser of the title were the best. Brown realizing that he was outdistanced, tried to make up the lost ground by rushing Kelly off his feet. Twice Brown succeeded in bowling Kelly over by butting him with his shoulder but there was not a clean knockdown in the entire fight.

Neither man showed enough class to warrant his claiming the middleweight championship. Both assert they are entitled to the laurels of the late Stanley Ketchel.

HARRY LEE MAKES NEW INDOOR MARK

New York, Feb. 22.—At the annual indoor meet of the Pastime Athletic club last night, Harry Lee, of the Boston A. A., established a new indoor record for the 330-yard run from a standing start. He covered the distance from scratch in 1:38 2-5, while the record of 1:34 3-5 for the same distance by Eli Parsons, of Yale, was made in a relay event from a flying start.

BASEBALL ASSOCIATION IS FORMED BY PECOS FANS. Pecos, Tex., Feb. 22.—The Pecos Baseball association has been reorganized and the following officers elected: President, H. R. Link; vice president, Charles F. Manahans; secretary, treasurer, Geo. Beauchamp; captain, Walter Brown.

Will R. Brady, manager for last year will assist in the management of the team this year.

JIM MORLEY IS CHOSEN THE HEAD OF WESTERN BOWLERS. Los Angeles, Feb. 22.—The 1912 Western Bowling congress closed here yesterday with the election of Jim Morley, of Los Angeles, as president for the 1912 gathering. James F. Morley, of Los Angeles, was chosen president.

Frank Smith, Cincinnati hurler, suspects that the saloon business in Pittsburgh offers him a fine opportunity to grow rich and has intimated as much to manager George Tyler in exchange.

It's a little late in the season, but here it is. Vincent Campbell, of the Pirates, has a glittering offer to go into business in Pittsburgh and may accept, thus denying his services to manager Clarke.

President Ward, of the Braves, says Dolin and Purdie are not holding out. If they are both are getting ready well along in years to pull off such boyish tricks.
